

GO-GO RILLAS

No bananas are safe! The GO-GO Rillas have escaped the confines of the zoo and are aimed to throw a Banana Party! Where's the Banana Party? Wherever these apes are! During their time locked away at the zoo, these primates honed their surf and garage rock chops and now Bingo, Bango, Bongo and Fred are on the loose; forever on the run from the evil zoo keeper! Grab a banana and let's GO-GO!

THEGOGORILLAS.COM

MEET THE APES!

Meet Bingo! Bassist and fancy footwear extraordinaire! Bingo was in the original lineup of the Banana Splits but soon left the band due to artistic differences. There has been ongoing legal action against the Banana Splits (or "BS" as Bingo calls them) due to them using Bingos name without his permission. While serving time 'inside', Bingo repeatedly reminded the other apes not to touch their butts then smell their fingers. This turned out to be a golden rule once the zoo switched to an all bean-based diet! When Bingo's not working the bass, or "shreddin' the gnar" he's hard at work on his next screen play "Gidget goes Bananas." Surfs Up!

Since escaping, Bango has maintained various cover jobs: cab driver, casino blackjack dealer, life coach and lastly, a mime. Realizing that mime-ry would not put fruit salad on the table, he hooked up with Bingo after one and a half fitful days of learning how to play the guitar. His life motto is, "Never get caught with your bananas down" and is known to parachute into hairy guitar situations, there's no stopping his ape energy! Bango once partied with Jane Goodall AND Dian Fossey so he's got jungle cred!

Where's that mad jungle boogie coming from? Oh it's just Bongo on the skins! Say hello to the GO-GO Rillas resident furious face of fuzz! While in captivity, Bongo used the hollow logs and the heads of the others to drum up some of the zoo's most infamous beats! It was COCO-NUTS! Ya shoulda been there! Well no worries, now's your chance to see and hear Delaware's Banana Daquiri King for 2005 and 2011.....put your ape mitts together....heeeeere's BONGO!!

Fred enjoyed a modest level of commercial success after landing a role as Lou Ferrigno's stand-in on the popular Mexican television series "El Incredible Hulk". Sadly, fame and fortune went to his banana brain causing a spiral into coconut milk addiction and madness. He was surrendered to the Los Angeles Zoo in 1979 just after an "incident" involving John Ritter during filming of the opening sequences of "Three's company". These days Fred can be found frying banana chips and tube amps from the urban sprawls to the big cities, he's always on the move and always ready with a face melting solo! Buckle up your banana britches, here's comes Fred!

GO GO GORILLAS

CHECK THE BOYS
OUT ON YOUTUBE!

CLICK THE YOUTUBE LOGO!
WE DOUBLE BANANA SPLIT DARE YA!

VISIT US ONLINE, WON'T YOU? YA DANG PRIMATE!

 INSTAGRAM.COM/THEGOGORILLAS

 FACEBOOK.COM/THEGOGORILLASBAND

ARTIST MANAGEMENT AND BOOKING CONTACT:

GERRY GERALD 'GI-GI' RILEY

INFO@THEGOGORILLAS.COM

214-641-4620

TEXAS USA

